Discover The Commandery!

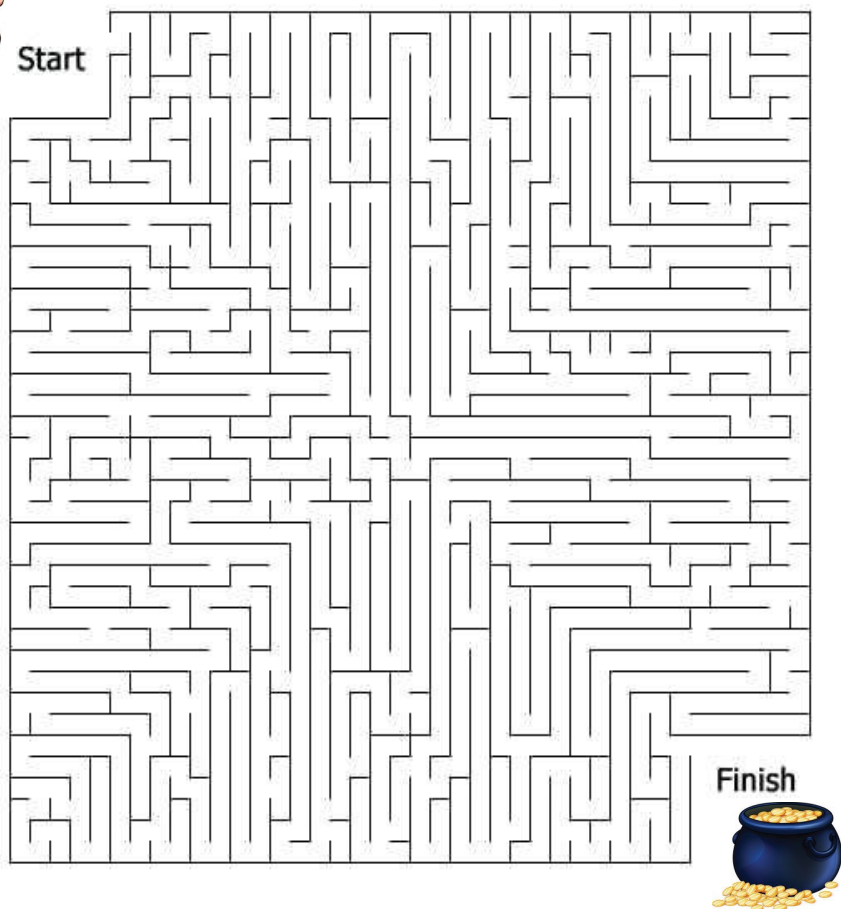

Have fun exploring The Commandery like an Archaeologist! Archaeology isn't just about digging, its also about looking at old houses and their different features.

Meet Sally. Sally is an archaeologist who likes to look at old buildings. You and Sally can explore The Commandery together by doing these activities in the booklet.

Someone back in the Civil War times has buried a pot of coins as they were worried that looting soldiers might take them. They never came back to get them. Help Sally find the Civil War coins at the end of this maze.

There are a lot of objects that have been dug up in and displayed in The Commandery. Can you find these objects? Here are some images to help you. Tick the box once you've found them.
